

Michal Miedzinski, Senior Consultant, Technopolis Group, Belgium

Michal Miedzinski is senior consultant at Technopolis Group Belgium. His interest and professional expertise is on analysing public policies supporting innovation, regional development and sustainability. Over last years he has concentrated on eco-innovation and resource use issues. Michal is currently coordinating the Eco-Innovation Observatory, a major three-year EC-funded initiative aimed at providing information and analysis on eco-innovation trends to policy and business actors in Europe. He is one of the lead authors of the Observatory's annual reports. During his career he has been involved in a number of projects and studies commissioned by the EU institutions, international organisations (OECD, UNIDO) as well as by the regional authorities in many countries (e.g. Italy, France, Turkey).
