Susanne Baker, Senior Climate and Environment Policy Adviser, EEF, UK

Susanne Baker is a senior climate and environment policy adviser at EEF, the UK's manufacturer's organisation. There she is responsible for the development of the organisation's policy thinking and representation on resource security, productivity and recovery. Susanne chairs the Material Security Working Group, which is campaigning for stronger political leadership on resources, and sat on the steering committee for the APSRG's recent inquiry into remanufacturing and was an observer to the Government's Circular Economy Business Taskforce. Before joining EEF, she was a senior writer for the ENDS Report, the UK's leading environmental business journal. In this role, she oversaw the publication's supply chain and parliament and politics section and was a regular contributor to its resources news and analysis.
