Christina Dixon, UK Campaigns Manager for Sea Change, World Animal Protection, UK

Christina has worked at World Animal Protection since 2013 after becoming interested in animal welfare following completion of her master's degree. Christina has worked on the Sea Change campaign trying to build a picture of the scale of the problem of ghost fishing gear in UK waters, working with a range of stakeholders on solutions. Christina's main project is the Global Ghost Gear Initiative, which brings her together with people around the world committed to tackling the ghost gear problem. Christina has lived and worked in the UK, Germany and Austria and is keen cyclist, outdoors enthusiast, punk bassist and roller derby athlete with a particular passion for the marine environment and sustainable living.
